NASPA HISTORY

In December 1918 Robert Rienow, the dean of men at the University of Iowa, wrote a letter to Thomas Arkle Clark, dean of men at the University of Illinois, suggesting a meeting that is now recognized as the founding of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators. The meeting was held at the University of Wisconsin in January 1919, with six men present. In attendance were three deans of men and three professors having campus interests of this type but no title.

In reporting on the first meeting, Professor Louis A. Strauss of the University of Michigan referred to it as the Conference of Deans and Advisers of Men. This label became popular and was used until 1929 when it was modified as the National Association of Deans and Advisers of Men (NADAM). The title was apt because the dean of men's title was not widespread on the American college campus at that time. Thomas Arkle Clark was the first person to claim the title in 1909, although he assumed the responsibilities in 1901.

Scott Goodnight, dean of men at the University of Wisconsin, served as host for this historic first meeting. Retroactively, he is referred to as the first president of NADAM. Actually, he was selected as chairman during the meeting, a kind of incidental formality not seen at the time as having any significance. The success of this meeting, as participants agreed, suggested that another should be held, with invitations extended to anyone who might be interested. It is clear that the second meeting was pivotal to the life of the organization. Held on the University of Illinois campus with an attendance of nine, it was decided that future meetings should occur annually on the campus of one of the members. A committee of three was named to handle arrangements. Short papers for discussion were introduced as a supplement to the informal discussions; the latter being seen by participants as the primary value in meeting.

Informal conversations concerning the role of the dean of men were extremely important to participants because many of them were recently appointed and had no firm grasp of what to expect. Dean Clark once said, "It was an untried sea upon which I was about to set sail." C.E. Edmondson, a physician who was dean of men at Indiana University, noted that when he was appointed dean of men his president talked to Dean Clark, "as perhaps he could tell me what a dean of men was." Shop talk at meetings for several years helped in this respect, there being little "theory" to consider. Shop talk should not be equated with small talk, however, as participants regularly commented on the inspiration they received from the annual meetings. War stories from the home campus also were common, and stories were apparently colorfully told. No record of much of what went on in the long informal discussion exists; but participants were highly educated men, scholars in their own right, having strong spiritual roots and a clear idea of how young men should conduct themselves. The tools at their disposal were indeed primitive; they consulted with each other as a means of mutual education.

It was 1925 when the first piece of "research" was offered at a NADAM meeting. The summary was presented by John Bennett of Teachers College, Columbia University, and dealt with the prevalence of the office of dean of men in American colleges and universities together with the recognized duties and powers of the office. By 1928, one can find "A Statistical Study of the Relationship Between Extra Curricular Activities and Scholarship" offered by Dean Earl Miller of UCLA.

The last meeting of the '20s was the first to be conducted away from the college campus. The conference was held at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D.C., with 76 men attending. Members paid dues of $10.

The 1930s marked the development of the first formal constitution of NADAM. The institutional membership was established in 1932, giving each institution one vote but extending an invitation to as many representatives as an institution might wish to send. The constitution also called for a seven-man executive committee. Any educational institution was eligible for membership upon acceptance by the executive committee. Records do not reveal any rejections for membership.

In 1932, The Counselor made a brief and inauspicious appearance to be followed over the years with continued requests for publications. The NASPA Journal, as it appears today, was not introduced until 1963. In the meantime, several newsletters found their way to members, with different names at different times. Perhaps the most familiar of these was The Breeze.

As early as the 1920s, NADAM played a valuable placement role for its members. A network of informal contacts helped newer members become alert to job possibilities across the country. Dean Arno "Shorty" Nowotny of the University of Texas played a key role in this activity for many years. This was a valuable tool during the Depression; the placement function continues today as an important function of the association's efforts to assist its members.

The organization grew slowly, with 87 in attendance in 1939. This was somewhat disconcerting to those who enjoyed the small group informality of earlier meetings. Efforts to continue the informality were introduced, grouping deans for part of the annual conference into small/medium/large institution meetings.

Change was in the air as many deans in attendance were not called either "deans of men" or "advisers to men." A speech in 1937 by W.H. Cowley, entitled "The Disappearing Dean of Men," emphasized that change would accelerate. Among Cowley's accurate perceptions was his understanding of the emergence of the dean of students as the central officer of the future in student affairs.

One of NADAM's major preoccupations in the 1940s was World War II and its aftermath. The adaptation of campuses to the war effort are reflected in the conference minutes, and the problems relating to veterans once the war was over took the rest of the decade. Members still found time to comment often about the "role" problem of NADAM. Over 30 different "titles" of attending administrators were counted at one conference, suggesting a broader role for NADAM was required. The decade was noted by the presence of Armour Blackburn of Howard University, the first black administrator to participate and the only one to serve on a NADAM executive committee. In 1949, the annual meeting reached 217, passing 200 for the first time.

Dean Wesley P. Lloyd at Brigham Young University led the way in 1951 to the creation of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators (NASPA). Having been defeated in two earlier votes (1948 and 1949), this time the recommended name change passed; nearly unanimously. This broadened the base of the association and for the first time it began actively to seek members. Until 1951 no one had ever been recruited by the association. Members were free to encourage colleagues to join but the association sent no invitations to American college campuses. The purpose of the expanded association was stated to be "to discuss and study the most effective methods of aiding students in their intellectual, social, moral, and personal development."

It was now clear that women eventually would seek membership in the organization that now promoted itself as the professional home for chief student affairs professionals and their principal assistants. Seven years later, Mary Ethel Ball, acting dean of students at the University of Colorado, became the first female "institutional representative" of NASPA. (It may be an interesting footnote to history to indicate that a Dean Blitz at the University of Minnesota is remembered as the first woman to attend a NADAM/NASPA meeting in 1926. She was a guest of Dean E.E. Nicholson when the conference met in Minneapolis.)

Women administrators did not immediately decide to participate in NASPA. The "old boy" reputation was on the one hand unfair because young administrators were always encouraged in NADAM/NASPA. Of course, historically only the "boys" were present, and women apparently were concerned about how they would fare in a previously all-male organization.

Five commissions were established at the 1951 conference to deal with substantive, ongoing issues (e.g., professional relationships, ethics, professional preparation). A secondary benefit of the commissions was in making more members able to participate in the association's activities.

The remainder of the 1950s involved the development of the commission idea, the number reaching eight by 1959, and a continuation of conferences attempting to deal directly with the dean job. Conference attendance passed 300 in 1958. Dues were increased to $25 in 1959. The dues were solely for operating expenses, as no one received any compensation for work done in behalf of the association. Informality continued as an association hallmark. It was revealed at the 1959 meeting that no one had ever seen a copy of the constitution. It was acknowledged that none had been published for several years.

The 1960s marked many changes in NASPA. For the first time outside funding was secured for a NASPA activity. NASPA was an early leader in educating members concerning drug abuse, with funding obtained from the federal government. NASPA was an active participant in the development of the Joint Statement on Rights and Freedoms of Students which the association then endorsed in 1968. From 1966 until the end of the decade and beyond, crisis was the most prominent campus issue and the most prominent association concern. Some deans were enormously successful in protecting both their campuses and rights of students, but disruption of campuses became more prevalent.

Almost unnoticed, the regionalization of NASPA occurred in the early 1960s when regional vice presidents emerged, eventually playing a dominant role in the executive committee. Seven vice presidents were elected, representing the six national accreditation regions (Region IV because of its size was divided into IV-East and IV-West). O.D. Roberts at Purdue University and Don Marsh at Wayne State University became NASPA's unpaid controllers, and in 1967 a national office was created in Detroit, Michigan.

The period 1965-75 could be called the pivotal decade for women in NASPA. Pat Cross, then of Cornell University, was the first woman appointed to the NASPA Executive Committee in 1966. Lenore Cole of American University was the first woman (and the first minority person) to be elected a regional vice president. In 1971 Chet Peters named Alice Manicur at Frostburg State College to the executive committee with a charge to establish a network with women colleagues across the nation, and to assure them that their participation would be acknowledged by the association. This was a successful effort in many ways, as today 45 percent of the NASPA membership is comprised of women.

Alice Manicur eventually became the first woman president of NASPA in 1976. Six years later, Mikell O'Donnell at Ohio State University became the second woman president. Other women who have served as president include Judith Chambers at the University of the Pacific (1986-87), Marsha Duncan at Lehigh University (1990-91), Joan Claar at DePauw University (1992-93), Paula Rooney at Babson College (1993-94), and Suzanne Gordon at the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville (1996-97).

Minority members also sought a more inclusive voice during this period. The regionalization of NASPA heightened opportunities for involvement, and the executive committee used its at-large seats to give minority and women members increased national visibility. Opportunities to demonstrate leadership have led to a number of division chairs and regional vice presidencies, and in 1985 Bob E. Leach at Florida State University became NASPA's first minority president. NASPA's immediate past president, James E. Scott at Georgia State University, is the second African-American to hold this office.

Community colleges began to make their presence felt in NASPA during the decade. George Young at Broward Community College was the first community college vice president to serve on the NASPA Executive Committee and to chair a national conference. In 1979 he became the first community college person to serve as president of NASPA. He was followed in 1981 by E.T. (Joe) Buchanan III at Tidewater Community College.

Dissatisfaction with the nominating process for NASPA presidents surfaced in the early 1970s. James R. Appleton at the University of Southern California was the first president elected in a contested race at the Philadelphia conference and James J. Rhatigan at Wichita State University was the first person elected in a mail ballot to the entire membership.

Among the hallmarks of NASPA's development was the selection of Channing M. Briggs as part-time controller in 1970, and the moving of the national office to Portland State University in that same year. Channing Briggs eventually became a full-time executive secretary with a small staff, and in 1975 was named the first executive director of NASPA. The Briggs period marked an important period both in growth and in the professional sophistication of NASPA as an organization.

Upon Briggs' retirement in 1981, Richard F. Stevens became the second executive director, and the national office was moved to Ohio State University. In 1985 the association voted to move its headquarters to Washington, D.C., and in June 1987 Elizabeth M. Nuss, dean of undergraduate life at Indiana University, succeeded Stevens as executive director. In 1995, Gwendolyn Jordan Dungy succeeded Nuss as NASPA's executive director.

Today NASPA has a Board of Directors, some 1,200 institutional members and some 8,000 members, seven regions with active programs, and a bright future. Perhaps all of this is due to six deans of students meeting in Madison, Wisconsin, 80 years ago.

NOMINATIONS FOR PRESIDENT-ELECT

Nominations are received annually for NASPA president-elect. Any current member of NASPA may nominate someone for president-elect. The deadline for receipt of nominations is November 1 of each year. Nominations should include a letter of nomination describing the nominee's achievements and contributions and a resume. Nominations should be sent to the NASPA office.

The president-elect performs duties as directed by the president or the Board of Directors, and serves as chair or a member of designated standing committees of the association. The president-elect assumes office as president during the business meeting of the following year.

Nominees for this position must be current voting delegates, professional affiliates, or faculty affiliates at member institutions. The Nominations and Resolutions Committee of the board selects the candidates.

Voting delegates, professional affiliates, and faculty affiliates receive mail ballots for president-elect in January of each year.

The presiding individual at any meeting may appoint a parliamentarian to advise the presiding individual on parliamentary matters.

SECTION 7. Written Consent. Any action which must be, or may be, taken at a meeting of the members or directors may be taken without a meeting if a consent in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by all of the members or directors entitled to vote.

ARTICLE IV. OFFICERS

SECTION 1. Officers. The officers of the Association shall be a President, President-Elect, Past-President, and regionally elected Vice Presidents, who shall be elected in accordance with these Bylaws, and a Secretary, Treasurer and such other subordinate officers as the Board of Directors may from time to time appoint or authorize the President to appoint. Any two or more offices may be held by the same person, except the offices of President and Secretary. The Executive Director shall not, by virtue of such capacity, be considered an officer of the Association, but may be appointed an officer by the Board of Directors.

SECTION 2. Qualifications. All elected officers shall be Professional Affiliates and all officers shall take office at the conclusion of the business meeting of the annual meeting.

SECTION 3. Election and Term of Office. The Board of Directors shall at every annual meeting elect the Secretary, Treasurer and such other officers as the Board shall by resolution have authorized. Each officer will hold office until his or her successor will have been duly elected or qualified.

SECTION 4. Removal. Any officer elected or appointed by the Board of Directors may be removed by the Board of Directors, upon the vote of two-thirds of the Directors then in office, whenever, in its judgment, the best interests of the Corporation would be served thereby, but such removal will be without prejudice to the contract rights, if any, of the officer so removed.

SECTION 5. Vacancies. Unless otherwise provided in these By-laws, a vacancy in any office because of death, resignation, removal, disqualification or otherwise, may be filled by the Board of Directors for the un-expired portion of the term.

SECTION 6. President. Following a term of one year as President-Elect, the President-Elect shall succeed to the office of President. The President shall serve as chief executive officer for a term of one year.

The President is empowered to appoint such ad hoc committees as deemed necessary for specific functions. Such committees shall continue to exist only for the term of office of the appointing President, but may be re-appointed by his/her successor.

The President shall perform such duties as are normally associated with the office of President; preside at all regular and special national meetings; preside at all meetings of the Board of Directors, and the Executive Committee thereof; and serve as an ex officio member of all committees.

SECTION 7. President-Elect. The President-Elect shall be elected for a term of one year by Voting Delegates, Professional Affiliates, and Faculty Affiliates, shall succeed automatically to the office of President for a term of one year, and shall assume the responsibilities of the Presidency in the absence or incapacity of the President.

The President-Elect shall perform duties as directed by the President or Board of Directors, shall serve as chair or member of various standing committees as designated elsewhere in these Bylaws, and shall be responsible for planning for the Association.

The Nominations Committee shall be responsible for soliciting nominations for the position of President-Elect. Recommendations for this position shall be solicited by mail from each affiliate of the Association at least thirty days in advance of the committee's consideration of these nominations. At least two (2) nominees shall be presented for election. A simple majority is required for election. If more than two (2) candidates are presented on the ballot, a run-off election may be required between the two individuals receiving the largest number of votes. The President-Elect shall be elected by mail ballot prior to the annual meeting by the Voting Delegates and Professional Affiliates.

In the event the President-Elect assumes the responsibilities of the President as a result of the resignation or incapacity of that officer, the functions of the President-Elect shall be performed by the Vice Presidents as designated by the Board of Directors, and the Board shall promptly schedule and conduct an election to fill any vacancies created thereby.

SECTION 8. Regional Vice Presidents. Seven Regional Vice Presidents shall be elected, one from each of the seven Regions as defined in Article II. The Vice Presidents from Regions I, III, IV-West, and VI shall be elected to take office in even-numbered years; the Vice Presidents from Regions II, IV-East, and V shall be elected to take office in odd-numbered years. The term of Vice President is two years. The Regional Vice President must be a Professional Affiliate in the electing region at the time of election and throughout the two-year term. Vice Presidents shall not be eligible to succeed themselves; provided, however, that a Regional Vice President serving the un-expired term of a predecessor shall be eligible for nomination for one succeeding full term.

A Regional Vice President is responsible for the following functions:

- i. Representing the region at meetings of the Board of Directors.
- ii. Coordinating regional activities and acting as official spokesman for the Association in the region.
- iii. Serving as the official representative of the Association at meetings of other associations in the region, when requested by the President or Board of Directors.
- iv. Informing members and affiliates within the region of activities by regular communications or meetings.
- v. Planning and conducting regional activities which may be scheduled at the annual meeting.
- vi. Strengthening membership in the Association by serving on the Membership Committee.

The Regional Vice Presidents shall be elected by mail ballot prior to the annual meeting. All regional Voting Delegates, Professional Affiliates, and Faculty Affiliates shall be eligible to vote in their specific regional elections. At least two (2) nominees shall be presented to the regional membership for election so there will be a successor if a resignation occurs.

A simple majority is required for election. If more than two candidates are presented on the ballot, a run-off election may be required between the two individuals receiving the largest number of votes. In the event a Regional Vice President resigns or becomes incapacitated, or is removed, the candidate for Vice President receiving the next highest number of votes shall be invited to succeed that Vice Presidency. If that candidate does not succeed to the Vice Presidency, the Board of Directors shall specify the process for selection of the Regional Vice President.

Regions may choose to elect a Vice President-Elect to serve in the Region for the year prior to assuming the Regional Vice Presidency. In this case, nomination and election of the Regional Vice President-Elect will occur according to the above process the year before assuming the Regional Vice Presidency.

STANDARDS OF PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE

The National Association of Student Personnel Administrators (NASPA) is an organization of colleges, universities, agencies, and professional educators whose members are committed to providing services and education that enhance student growth and development. The association seeks to promote student personnel work as a profession, which requires personal integrity, belief in the dignity and worth of individuals, respect for individual differences and diversity, a commitment to service, and dedication to the development of individuals and the college community through education. NASPA supports student personnel work by providing opportunities for its members to expand knowledge and skills through professional education and experience. The following standards were endorsed by NASPA at the December 1990 board of directors meeting in Washington, D.C.:

1. Professional Services

Members of NASPA fulfill the responsibilities of their position by supporting the educational interests, rights, and welfare of students in accordance with the mission of the employing institution.

2. Agreement with Institutional Mission and Goals

Members who accept employment with an educational institution subscribe to the general mission and goals of the institution.

3. Management of Institutional Resources

Members seek to advance the welfare of the employing institution through accountability for the proper use of institutional funds, personnel, equipment, and other resources. Members inform appropriate officials of conditions which may be potentially disruptive or damaging to the institution's mission, personnel, and property.

4. Employment Relationship

Members honor employment relationships. Members do not commence new duties or obligations at another institution under a new contractual agreement until termination of an existing contract, unless otherwise agreed to by the member and the member's current and new supervisors. Members adhere to professional practices in securing positions and employment relationships.

5. Conflict of Interest

Members recognize their obligation to the employing institution and seek to avoid private interests, obligations, and transactions which are in conflict of interest or give the appearance of impropriety. Members clearly distinguish between statements and actions which represent their own personal views and those which represent their employing institution when important to do so.

6. Legal Authority

Members respect and acknowledge all lawful authority. Members refrain from conduct involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit, and misrepresentation or unlawful discrimination. NASPA recognizes that legal issues are often ambiguous, and members should seek the advice of counsel as appropriate. Members demonstrate concern for the legal, social codes and moral expectations of the communities in which they live and work even when the dictates of one's conscience may require behavior as a private citizen which is not in keeping with these codes/expectations.

7. Equal Consideration and Treatment of Others

Members execute professional responsibilities with fairness and impartiality and show equal consideration to individuals regardless of status or position. Members respect individuality and promote an appreciation of human diversity in higher education. In keeping with the mission of their respective institution and remaining cognizant of federal, state, and local laws, they do not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, creed, gender, age, national origin, sexual orientation, or physical disability. Members do not engage in or tolerate harassment in any form and should exercise professional judgment in entering into intimate relationships with those for whom they have any supervisory, evaluative, or instructional responsibility.

8. Student Behavior

Members demonstrate and promote responsible behavior and support actions that enhance personal growth and development of students. Members foster conditions designed to ensure a student's acceptance of responsibility for his/her own behavior. Members inform and educate students as to sanctions or constraints on student behavior which may result from violations of law or institutional policies.

9. Integrity of Information and Research

Members ensure that all information conveyed to others is accurate and in appropriate context. In their research and publications, members conduct and report research studies to assure accurate interpretation of findings, and they adhere to accepted professional standards of academic integrity.

10. Confidentiality

Members ensure that confidentiality is maintained with respect to all privileged communications and to educational and professional records considered confidential. They inform all parties of the nature and/or limits of confidentiality. Members share information only in accordance with institutional policies and relevant statutes when given the informed consent or when required to prevent personal harm to themselves or others.

11. Research Involving Human Subjects

Members are aware of and take responsibility for all pertinent ethical principles and institutional requirements when planning any research activity dealing with human subjects. (See Ethical Principles in the Conduct of Research with Human Participants, Washington, D.C.: American Psychological Association, 1982.)

12. Representation of Professional Competence

Members at all times represent accurately their professional credentials, competencies, and limitations and act to correct any misrepresentations of these qualifications by others. Members make proper referrals to appropriate professionals when the member's professional competence does not meet the task or issue in question.

13. Selection and Promotion Practices

Members support nondiscriminatory, fair employment practices by appropriately publicizing staff vacancies, selection criteria, deadlines, and promotion criteria in accordance with the spirit and intent of equal opportunity policies and established legal guidelines and institutional policies.

14. References

Members, when serving as a reference, provide accurate and complete information about candidates, including both relevant strengths and limitations of a professional and personal nature.

15. Job Definitions and Performance Evaluation

Members clearly define with subordinates and supervisors job responsibilities and decision-making procedures, mutual expectations, accountability procedures, and evaluation criteria.

16. Campus Community

Members promote a sense of community among all areas of the campus by working cooperatively with students, faculty, staff, and others outside the institution to address the common goals of student learning and development. Members foster a climate of collegiality and mutual respect in their work relationships.

17. Professional Development

Members have an obligation to continue personal professional growth and to contribute to the development of the profession by enhancing personal knowledge and skills, sharing ideas and information, improving professional practices, conducting and reporting research, and participating in association activities. Members promote and facilitate the professional growth of staff and they emphasize ethical standards in professional preparation and development programs.

18. Assessment

Members regularly and systematically assess organizational structures, programs, and services to determine whether the developmental goals and needs of students are being met and to assure conformity to published standards and guidelines such as those of the Council for the Advancement of Standards for Student Services/Development Programs (CAS). Members collect data that include responses from students and other significant constituencies and make assessment results available to appropriate institutional officials for the purpose of revising and improving program goals and implementation.

Call for 2002 Exemplary Programs

All NASPA members are urged to submit an outstanding program at your college or university for NASPA 2002 Exemplary Program recognition. The program you submit may be among those selected for publication in NASPA's 2002 Exemplary Programs: Bridges to Student Success.

MATERIALS ARE DUE ON DECEMBER 1, 2001. Send 6 copies of your program's information to: Beverly Sellers, NASPA, 1875 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Suite 418, Washington D.C. 20009. Regional committees will screen the program submissions. The NASPA Board of Directors Selections and Awards Committee, chaired by NASPA's president-elect, will make final decisions.

The purposes of Exemplary Programs are to recognize quality student affairs programs and to share these model programs with other institutions. Both recent programs as well as long established programs are welcome. Programs should meet the following criteria:

- ♦ respond to an assessed or measured need;
- ♦ achieve an expressed outcome;
- ♦ have a thorough design;
- ♦ be creative;
- ♦ translate to other institution environments;
- ♦ describe processes and procedures clearly; and
- ♦ demonstrate evaluation of its impact

The following questions should be used as a format for writing about the program:

- ♦ What was the impetus to develop the program?
- ♦ How does the program support the institution's mission?
- ♦ What are the objectives and key components of the program?
- ♦ Who are the related staff members?
- ♦ How is the program organized?
- ♦ What are the processes and procedures?
- ♦ How has the program been evaluated for its impact on students?
- ♦ How long has the program existed?

NOMINATIONS WELCOME ALSO! This is an excellent opportunity to recognize professional programming results across the nation. If you know of a program deserving of recognition, contact Beverly Sellers via e-mail at bsellers@naspa.org and communicate the program's name, institution, and contact person. She will send the criteria and format for writing about the program to the contact person.

NASPA NETWORKS

NASPA Networks give individual opportunities for NASPA members to identify special interests and connect with others who share the same interests. Each network is led by a national chair who has expertise in that topic and can serve as a direct resource on how the network can serve your particular needs. Each of NASPA's 7 Regions have regional network chairs serving each network, and are part of the regional advisory board. Regional network chairs can connect you with specific network information and activities in your region.

Network Opportunities

A variety of opportunities in each network offer plenty opportunities for involvement. Activities range from programs at regional and national conferences, newsletters, e-communities, focused institutes, information in NASPA publications and more. Information about each network, the national chair and the regional chairs is listed on the NASPA Web page at www.naspa.org. A brief description on each network is listed below.

Once you express an interest in a particular network or networks, possibilities for various targeted mailings and information on topics, programs open up to you. Since each network's focus is different, so are the types of communication to interested NASPA members and services offered.

We hope you take advantage of the information networks have to share and the opportunities they provide. Please feel free to contact the network chairs for more detailed information.

NATIONAL ACADEMY FOR LEADERSHIP AND EXECUTIVE EFFECTIVENESS

A Brief History

The NASPA National Academy for Leadership and Executive Effectiveness was established in response to NASPA's strategic initiative to focus sharper attention on the continued professional education and development needs of SSAsOs. In 1994, NASPA President Dr. James E. Scott appointed the Committee on Future Skills and Knowledge for Student Affairs Leaders, charging the committee to examine how SSAsOs develop and refine professional skills throughout their careers and to make recommendations on a deliberate process for continual professional development. The committee, consisting of senior student affairs professionals themselves, first conducted a review of relevant theoretical constructs and applications affecting the future work of senior student affairs leaders and then conducted an assessment of the most pressing leadership effectiveness needs through extensive research and dialogue with SSAsOs across the country.

The assessment revealed that SSAsOs' needs focused on several roles and essential skills necessary for leadership effectiveness. In addition to their role as educators, senior student affairs leaders communicated their need to be successful players on their campuses, wanting to develop skills to enable them to be more effective in the arenas of institutional politics and power. The need to acquire modern management techniques to be more successful in administering bottom-line areas under their purview was also important. Another critical need was to expand their understanding and use of technology, not only to be better educators, but also to become better managers of the diverse services that comprise many of their portfolios. The following five curricular areas emerged:

- Executive Effectiveness, focusing on major management and leadership competencies SSAsOs need to stay current in the constantly changing higher education environment;
- Educator Effectiveness, focusing on information and skills necessary for SSAsOs to create positive learning environments;
- Personal Effectiveness, covering resources, rules and roles to enhance SSAsOs' survival and prepare them for continual change;
- Understanding Politics and Power, providing insights and practical tools for understanding organizational politics and power and their implications for success; and
- Understanding the Power and Implications of Technology, featuring current applications and future options for technology both on-campus and in the global community.

During 1997 major steps were taken to implement the Leadership and Executive Effectiveness series. The committee presented portions of seven modules from the curricular areas at four regional conferences. An overview of the curricular areas was also presented at the national convention, which was attended by approximately 120 SSAsOs. Copies of Leadership Effectiveness: An Annotated Bibliography, prepared by the committee and funded by ARAMARK Corporation, were distributed to participants. The committee received overwhelmingly positive responses during this testing period, in which their colleagues indicated their enthusiastic support and need for this project, both verbally and through written evaluations. By piloting the modules and reviewing evaluative data, the committee was fully assured that they were properly addressing the topics and concepts vital to SSAsOs.

By the end of 1997, the NASPA Board transformed the Committee on Future Skills and Knowledge into the current National Academy for Leadership and Executive Effectiveness. The Academy's mission, objectives and goals became the following:

Academy Mission:

To create and implement a highly successful, self supporting, broad-based curriculum and comprehensive instructional delivery system that will enable NASPA to be the leading edge provider of leadership and executive effectiveness education, training and development for senior student affairs officers consistent with NASPA's Vision and Goal One of the NASPA Strategic Plan.

Academy Objectives:

- To develop the content for the five curricular areas that constitute the core of leadership and executive effectiveness,
- To identify and create delivery systems to include written materials, workshops, seminars, web sites, etc.,
- To identify, train and evaluate leadership and executive effectiveness facilitators,
- To create the infrastructure necessary to achieve the mission of the Academy,
- To evaluate the Academy's programs, activities and services for continuous improvement,
- To provide for continuity and evolution of work of the Academy.

Academy Goal:

The academy will provide professional development opportunities for SSAsOs through the dissemination of learning in the five curricular areas. Instructional delivery mechanisms will include conference sessions, institutes, self-study materials, audio/visual tapes, teleconferencing and web-based instruction. Academy faculty will be carefully selected, trained and evaluated by established protocols and the continuous improvement and assessment of Leadership and Executive Effectiveness curriculum is of highest priority.

In June of 1998, the Academy conducted its first national symposium—a fast-paced, highly interactive and information-packed institute in Breckenridge, CO. A second institute followed in January of 1999 in Washington D.C. Both received very high ratings and many accolades.

Each year the Academy will be offering the following leadership and executive effectiveness programs:

- New SSAO Institute, October, Washington, D.C.
This institute will provide recently appointed SSAOs with the strategies, techniques and tools to assure a smooth transition and long-term success.
- Leadership and Executive Effectiveness Institute, January, Washington, D.C.
This highly rated Institute on Leadership and Executive Effectiveness will offer SSAOs curriculum focusing on leadership, power and politics, personal effectiveness and change.

NASPA FOUNDATION

The NASPA Foundation was established in 1973-74 during the NASPA presidency of John Blackburn. Originally titled the NASPA Institute for Research and Development, (NIRID), The Foundation was conceived by Blackburn to be an endowment fund that would support research and development in service to student affairs administrators throughout the country. One of its first projects was the publication of the much-revered book, "Piece of Eight."

In 1987, NIRID was incorporated and shortly thereafter its name was changed to The NASPA Foundation and plans were developed to greatly expand the resources of the Foundation. In 1991, The Foundation initiated a major fund drive in preparation for the celebration of the 75th Anniversary of NASPA. With a $100,000 challenge grant from NASPA, The Foundation set a goal to raise an equal amount so that funds could be made available to expand the research activities of NASPA and its members. The drive was highly successful and today the assets of the Foundation are over $250,000.

At the same time, The Foundation began to diversify its activities in support of a variety of activities of NASPA. The Foundation has established several restricted endowments which permanently support stipends for NASPA awards, professional development programs, Regional activities and research and activities in the history and philosophy of student affairs work.

The Foundation is governed by a Board of Directors, which includes individuals in NASPA leadership positions as it has a strong commitment to support the priorities and programs of NASPA. The Board has committed itself to continuous efforts to increase the assets of the Foundation. It encourages all members of NASPA to make annual contributions to the Foundation through a solicitation conducted each Fall, membership in the Diamond Club or through special contributions to honor outstanding members of the profession through the recently established program called "Pillars of the Profession. As a member of NASPA, you should consider The Foundation when searching for resources to support research and development projects. The Foundation gives funding priorities to:

1. Research activities that add to the knowledge base of the student affairs profession, address issues challenging student affairs practitioners, or encourages partnerships with other professional organizations to address issues challenging higher education.

2. Scholarship through support and dissemination of publications to the profession or grants for graduate student research activities that are consistent with the Foundation's goals.
3. Proposals solicited by the Foundation for specific purposes or selected topics.

To be considered for funding, individuals or groups must satisfy at least one of the funding priorities mentioned above. Priority will be given to proposals submitted by NASPA members. The Foundation requires applicants to submit a 3 to 5 page proposal and a one page executive summary that includes the following:

1. Statement of the problem and/or purpose of the project.
2. Plan to address the problem or accomplish the project
3. Anticipated results or evidence that the objectives can be achieved.
4. The anticipated contributions of the project to the profession.
5. The anticipated time frame for completion of the project.
6. Budget for the project including other available financial sources and the amount requested from The Foundation.
7. Qualifications of those involved with the project.

The NASPA Foundation will not fund project that are designed for political purposes, discriminate on the basis of race, creed, gender, age, national origin, sexual orientation, or physical disabilities or are proposed for organizations that are not tax exempt under paragraph 501(c) (3) of the S. Internal Revenue Code.

Proposals are accepted and reviewed throughout the year; The Foundation will respond to every proposal. Proposals should be submitted to the Grants Committee of the NASPA Foundation and sent to the NASPA Executive Director, 1875 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Suite 418, Washington DC 20009-5728.

To learn more about the Foundation and how you can become an active supporter of its activities, contact the President or any member of the Board of Directors listed below.

COMMON QUESTIONS & ANSWERS ABOUT NASPA MEMBERSHIP

Q: If the institution has designated me as the voting delegate, do I have to join NASPA as an individual?

A: No. As the voting delegate to NASPA, your membership is included in your institution's membership. Other individuals on your campus are now qualified to join NASPA at the reduced professional affiliate member rate. Full-time students may join at the student rate.

Q: When does my membership expire?

A: The expiration date is one year after the month you join; the only exception is NASPA institutional memberships, which are renewed from July 1 to July 1 of the following year. All memberships are renewed annually.

Q: What are the benefits of individual membership?

A: NASPA provides the tools and contacts to help you excel in your work. Your individual membership provides:

- participation in an extensive network of more than 7,800 student affairs professionals, students, faculty, and corporate and nonprofit higher education supporters
- opportunities for professional development through national and regional workshops, institutes, and conferences

Q: What can I do to help ensure I receive all my NASPA mailings and that my address appears correctly in the NASPA member handbook?

A: Notify the NASPA office as soon as you know your new address and telephone number. If possible, send a mailing label or a copy of it so the change can be made promptly.

Q: When would I be considered a faculty affiliate as opposed to a professional affiliate?

A: Full-time faculty of nonmember institutions are considered faculty affiliates. A faculty affiliate is entitled to join at the special rate of $54 per year.

A: The NASPA Forum is mailed to all members bi-monthly, except for the summer months, and the NASPA Journal is mailed quarterly. Other periodic publications are sent to voting delegates as they become available.

Q: How can I become involved in NASPA's state and regional activities?

Academic Integrity Matters

Dana D. Burnett, Lynn Rudolph and Karen O. Clifford, eds.

Recent research and news reports suggest that breaches of academic integrity may be the rule rather than the exception on college campuses. Student-managed honor systems may be problematic. The authors attribute students' tolerance of violations to their preoccupation with success, and contend that students see cheating as a means, similar to studying, of gathering information in order to obtain a passing grade. Most students say that they would not report an incident of cheating that they observed, even if their honor code required it. Academic Integrity Matters discusses the values undergirding student behavior, describing strategies for "creating a culture of academic integrity," and assesses the impact of technology. Beginning Your Journey: A Guide for New Professionals in Student Affairs

Edited by Marilyn J. Amey and Lori M. Reesor

This monograph eases the transition from graduate student to full-time professional. It provides an examination of key issues facing new professionals and suggests ways of thinking about the challenges and opportunities that are offered by careers in student affairs. Whether someone is assuming a first professional position or moving into student affairs from a career in another field, whether employed at a community college or at a research university, the issues are similar - understanding organizational culture and its impact on work, thinking through career configurations, and exploring the values and belief systems of the field. Different Voices: Gender and Perspective in Student Affairs Administration

Jane Fried, ed.

People working together must be able to analyze and address problems and to work collaboratively. Do female administrators approach their work differently than male administrators? This book examines some of the assumptions underlying student affairs administration and student development education, particularly those concerning sex-role socialization. Throughout this book, the authors describe the effects of sex-role socialization and some of the implications for student affairs administration.

Life at the Edge of the Wave: Lessons from the Community College

edited by Margaret M. Culp and Steven R. Helfgot

Traditional models of academic success do not reflect the realities faced by "nontraditional" students at community colleges and urban institutions. Therefore, this book seeks a formula for the success of ethnic minorities, women, adults, and other nontraditional students. When the civil rights and women's movements changed students' needs, traditional student affairs professionals' training no longer applied. The "involvement theory" model of student success suggests these students are not "college material," yet they succeed.

This book describes how student affairs professionals can infiltrate academia to enhance opportunities for student success. For example, working students or those with children, who have far less free time than traditional students, benefit from more flexible class schedules and office hours. It also describes effective, creative community college programs and services. The final chapter outlines the tools needed for successful student affairs practices in the next century, including the importance of staff assignments and that they keep current with new information and computer technology. Mountains and Passes: Traversing the Landscape of Ethics and Student Affairs Administration

Patricia M. Lampkin and Elizabeth M. Gibson

An introduction to the formal study of ethics in student affairs, Mountains and Passes describes leading theories on this pressing topic, from commonly accepted moral principles to a more situational philosophy. The authors' own approach is a synthesis of established notions as well as collaborative ideals and emphasizes interpersonal relationships and the responsibilities of professional educators. A detailed case study presents typical ethical dilemmas that professionals will encounter in the field. As problems concerning ethics rarely have one solution, throughout the book readers are encouraged to consider their own positions on these issues to discover which approaches work best for them. Student Learning as Student Affairs Work: Responding to Our Imperative

Elizabeth Whitt, ed.

Many in the student affairs profession expect the new century to be an era of unprecedented change in higher education. These changes include a new student population, new educational technologies and delivery systems, and new institutional structures. This monograph helps student affairs professionals cope with these uncertainties and answers such pressing questions as:

- What does "student learning" mean in the context of student affairs work?
- How does student affairs contribute to student learning outcomes?
- How do we go about creating learning-oriented student affairs divisions?

Student Learning as Student Affairs Work is a must-have for any student affairs professional interested in creating or maintaining a learning-oriented student affairs division at their institution. (1999)

2000 Exemplary Programs: Bridges to Student Success

NASPA is fortunate to be able to share seven programs that address familiar problems in particularly imaginative ways. The seven were selected from more than 100 institutions nationwide, a larger group of nominees than ever before. Four programs help students who are at risk or have special needs. Two address institutional issues: assessing student opinion and integrating academics with residential life. One tackles a problem faced by all students, choosing a career. NASPA hopes that the accomplishments of these model programs will inspire other institutions to rise to new heights. (1999)

The Persistent Pledging of Black Greeks: A Student Development Approach for Understanding and Challenging Culture

Walter M. Kimbrough and E. Michael Sutton

While Black Greek-lettered organizations have provided an important function in the development and overall success of students, particularly African-American, the persistent problems associated with pledging jeopardize these organizations. The authors provide an analysis of the culture of pledging and how it has changed since 1990, and use a student development framework to describe current behaviors and offer strategies for addressing and challenging the culture of pledging. Powerful Partnerships: A Shared Responsibility for Learning (NASPA)

A Joint Report: American Association for Higher Education, American College Personnel Association, and National Association of Student Personnel Administrators

The ten principles about learning and how to strengthen it presented in Powerful Partnerships are drawn from research and practice, and provide grounds for deliberation and action. All participants in the educational mission of institutions of higher education—students, faculty, and staff—share responsibility for pursuing learning improvements. Collaborations between academic and student affairs personnel and organizations have been especially effective in achieving better learning for students, and the authors advocate these partnerships as the best way to realize fully the benefits of the findings. Sexual Harassment Claims: What the Law Demands

An Interactive CD-ROM plus 300-page Resource Handbook, edited by Barbara Lee, Esq.

Produced by the University of Vermont and sponsored in part by the American College Personnel Association, the Association of College and University Housing Officers-International, the Association for Student Judicial Affairs, and the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators.

A comprehensive guide to the complexities of sexual harassment and its legal and organizational implications, the Sexual Harassment Claims cd-rom clarifies the range of responsibilities that campuses have toward these pressing issues today. Learn from role plays and national experts how to deal with the five types of sexual harassment – same sex, peer to peer, faculty to student, employee to supervisor, supervisor to employee. While the manual should not be considered replacement for sound legal counsel and a pro-active institutional policy, it is a solid informational resource to help campus leaders meet the challenges of reviewing and changing assumptions and behaviors, evaluating the work and educational environment, and creating a culture of respect and greater equality within our institutions and society. NEW INVITED PAPERS

Collaboration and Community: Boyer's Guiding Principles

William M. McDonald, Jean L. Bacon, Arthur W. Carter, Betty L. Moore, Cathy E. Brown, Robby A. Littleton, Larry D. Roper, and Elizabeth Tankersley

Boyer published countless reports and books offering an insider's view of the challenges faced on today's campuses. He also made suggestions for improving the quality of each student's educational experience. He did this by advocating collaboration between academic and student affairs staff to provide an educational environment that makes learning in and out of the classroom seamless. This invited paper recounts Boyer's principles.
